Notes:

Data as of 2019

The Company has exited Argentina in 2020 as part of its go-forward business plan

Geographically diverse points of sale add to a resilient revenue base

- LATAM's revenue has historically been derived from a variety of business units (domestic-international, passenger-cargo) and points of sale, thereby protecting against demand shocks in any one particular country
- Large proportion of revenues and ASKs are attributable to Brazil, reflective of Brazil's importance in LATAM's global network as both a regional and international hub
- With the signing of the Delta Framework Agreement in 2019, the group expects connectivity to/from the United States to increase in the coming years
- The JV has already received approval in several key markets, including Brazil, Colombia and Uruguay

LATAM Pass: leading frequent flyer & loyalty program

LATAM Pass Structure & Benefits

- Following the merger of Multiplus into LATAM Airlines Brazil in 2019, LATAM's frequent flyer program (FFP) has operated as a single program under a unique brand, LATAM Pass
- LATAM Pass is not a separate legal entity: it is embedded within LATAM Airlines Group S.A. & LATAM Airlines Brazil
 - Those two entities are where the FFP liability sits, which increases when a mile is pre-sold or sold and reduced when miles are redeemed or expired
 - Neither the accrual of miles when passenger fly nor the redemption of those miles for tickets within these entities represent a cash transaction
 - Cash transactions occur only when miles are sold to third parties (banks, other commercial partners, direct sales to members) and when non-air rewards are purchased
- Having the program embedded within the airline has several operational and financial advantages
 - Enhanced revenue management, optimizing revenue by balancing revenue and reward tickets
 - Prevents the accumulation of cash in the frequent flyer program
 - Avoids additional intercompany transactions, with potential tax implications
- LATAM Pass is the 4th largest Frequent Flyer Program in the world in terms of members
- It has financial alliances with the leading banks in the countries where it operates

Reorganization Process

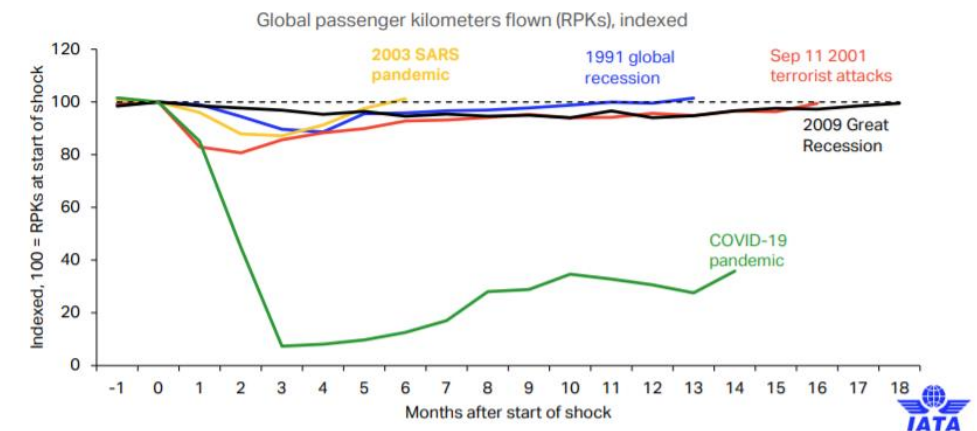

The COVID-19 pandemic has had an unprecedented impact on the airline industry, including LATAM

- Due to the extreme impact of COVID-19 on the travel industry, LATAM was forced to file for bankruptcy in May 2020
- In April 2020, LATAM's expectation was a recovery of 50%-70% of pre-COVID capacity (measured in ASKs) by the end of 2020
 - Domestic Brazil recovered to ~59% of 2019 ASKs and Domestic SSC recovered ~46% by December 2020, however international travel remained depressed (~23% of 2019 ASKs), leaving the overall group operating at ~38% of 2019 ASKs
- The latest waves of COVID in South America have led to a renewed closing of borders, increased travel restrictions and continuing challenges for LATAM
 - Chile announced the closing of its borders from April 1st through July 25th, Brazil announced travel restrictions and a curfew, and Colombia, Peru, and other Latin American countries remain in various stages of lockdown
 - May 2021 ASKs are projected to be 31% of 2019 levels
- One bright spot following the commencement of the pandemic has been the resiliency and results of the cargo business
 - In 2020, LATAM saw a 14% increase in cargo revenues, partially resulting from a 20% increase in the Company's freighter capacity and +100% increase in yields, despite an almost 26% decrease in overall capacity (measured in ATKs)
 - In response to this new reality, LATAM announced the conversion of up to ten (10) B767s to freighters between 2021 and 2023, which will nearly double cargo capacity in the next three years

After the onset of COVID, LATAM took necessary, drastic and immediate cost-cutting measures to maximize liquidity and ensure survival

- LATAM utilized the Chapter 11 process to rationalize and variabilize LATAM's cost structure through the COVID-19 pandemic and has prioritized operating positive cash flow routes in order to generate positive free cash flow from operations

Category	Initiative	Timing	Detail
1 Wages and Benefits	Headcount reduction	May'20 - Sep'20	Headcount reduction plan including voluntary retirement plan, layoffs and leaves of absence
	Salary reduction	Mar'20 - Dec'20	Voluntary salary reduction (>95% of adherence)
	Labor negotiation and outsourcing	Jun'20 - ongoing	Primary goal to switch to variable cost structure and improve productivity
2 Fleet Cost	Deferred lease payments	Mar'20 - May'20	Deferred lease payments with operating lessors starting in March and with financial lessors starting in May
	PBH and right sizing	May'20 - 2022/2023	Working with operating and financial lessors to rightsize and variabilize fleet costs
	Long term agreement renegotiations	Upon emergence	LATAM is in the process of negotiating long-term agreements which better reflect current asset values
3 Control Tower	Finance Control Towers	May'20 - ongoing	Implementing payment and procurement Control Tower for new purchases/existing Pos
	CAPEX Containment	Mar'20 - ongoing	CAPEX and Inventory: significant reductions to number and scale of projects and expenses
	Maintenance Cash Control	Mar'20 - Q1'21	C-Check stop-clock initiative, aircraft preservation and inventory base rebalance
4 Working Capital	Working Capital	Mar'20 - emergence	Post-petition vendor payments made on time, while LATAM continues to negotiate pre-petition claims of foreign vendors Containing demands for hold-backs / collateral posting, and collateralizing LCs
5 Contract Negotiation	Other contract negotiation	Jun'20 - ongoing	Renegotiation of more than 600 contracts to reduce costs through price and volume reduction
6 Redefinition of Geographic Coverage	Exit Domestic Argentina	2020	Winding down domestic Argentina operations but keeping international operations

As a result of successful cost-cutting efforts, capex deferral and tactical revenue generation, LATAM successfully sustained operations through COVID

- Since the outbreak of COVID-19, LATAM has been focused on containing expenses to protect liquidity
- LATAM secured US$ 2.45 billion in DIP financing in October 2020
- Thanks to strict cash management practices, LATAM has been able to sustain a higher than forecasted total liquidity
- Liquidity improvements have resulted from the negotiation of payment schedules, deferral of investments, the use of travel vouchers to settle refunds with customers, and the establishment of “Control Towers” for both procurement and payments
- To minimize cash burn during the pandemic, LATAM has focused on first bringing back routes that are cash flow positive (inclusive of Cargo contribution)
- Going forward, LATAM is seeking to maintain a minimum liquidity of US$ 1.5 billion, consistent in the medium term with a 20% of revenue liquidity target set by credit rating agencies and determined by LATAM to be a prudent level of liquidity in light of the type of pressures the industry has experienced and could continue to face

The group has successfully and comprehensively restructured its fleet, reducing it in size and complexity while adding flexibility and cost efficiencies

Fleet Restructuring

Fleet Reduction and Simplification

- Total fleet reduced from 340 to 286¹ aircraft
- Withdrawal of 1 aircraft type (A350)
- Consolidation of WB Brazil operation around B777 (recently retrofitted) and B787 (Boeing pilot commonality)

Flexibility

- PBH/interest only agreements provide liquidity and flexibility during demand recovery:
 - ~60% of NB fleet until 2022
 - ~50% of WB fleet until 2023
- Further cash flow flexibility can be derived from:
 - Balancing engine maintenance optimization and grounding of A319
 - Accelerating retirement of fleet types if required
 - Limit further WB commitments

Going forward, annual cash flow savings of over 40% vs. 2019

¹Excluding 6 aircraft already sold and 10 to be converted to freighters

Acting as a hedge, the Cargo Business¹ has flourished during the pandemic

Cargo Business Highlights

Revenue

- US$ 481 MM Cargo revenue in January – April 2021
- RATK growth of 60% in part due to supply constraints

Asset Utilization

- Freighter utilization up to 16 hours per day
- Flew passenger aircraft as freighter, generating US$ 249 MM in 2020, with 9,000+ frequencies since April 2020
- Expecting to replace missing Belly capacity whenever Passenger operations get restricted

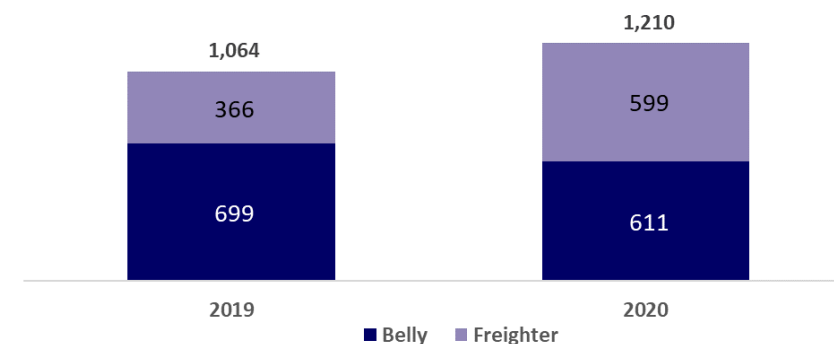

Future Conversions

- Slots for converting 10 B767s to Freighters
- “Light” conversions to take advantage of short-term opportunities in the region

Key Competitive Advantages

- Unparalleled cargo network for combining freighter and passenger aircraft
- Unique capabilities (e.g. pharma, with over 40 million of COVID-19 vaccine doses carried)

Cargo Revenue (US$ MM)

Cargo Results (Freighter + Belly)

1) There are three cargo airline operations that are part of the LATAM group: LATAM Cargo Brazil, LATAM Cargo Colombia and LATAM Cargo Chile

Business Plan

LATAM's capacity plan was determined upon two main inputs: the expectation of market demand recovery and the anticipated competitive landscape

- A global strategic consulting firm and LATAM completed a thorough analysis to develop market demand and capacity plan assumptions

1 Market Demand Recovery + 2 Competitive Landscape = Capacity Plan

- Estimated recovery and growth of market demand; forecast at segment level (country, length of haul and type of travel)
- Market demand one of the inputs informing LATAM capacity deployment in each market
- Capacity recovery for existing competitors in existing markets and potential new market entries
- Competitor capacity is one of the key inputs informing LATAM capacity deployment in each market (based on network strategy)
- Capacity Plan by market is based on the Demand-Supply equilibrium which results from the Market Demand Recovery and the Competitive Landscape

A “bottom’s-up” approach was followed to assess the Market Demand Recovery

For each of the key markets and segments that LATAM group serves ...

- Brazil
- Chile
- Colombia
- Ecuador
- Peru

... demand (RPK) recovery and growth forecasted by length of haul and customer type of travel

Length of haul

- Domestic – at country Level
- Regional – from given country to/within South America and Caribbean
- Long haul – from given country to Europe, North America and Asia Pacific

Travel type

- Business
- Leisure
- Visiting Friends and Relatives (“VFR”)

A market demand recovery framework was developed which identifies 3 phases: Decline, Rebound, and New Normal

Phases

Segment “A” RPKs

Logic & Variables

- 1 Trough (% of 2019): Lowest point of demand during crisis
- 2 Start of recovery (months): Time at which rebound starts
- 3 Double dip: Deceleration/Decline in demand due to second waves
- 4 Initial monthly recovery rate (pp): Slope of the rebound phase
- 5 Inflection point (month): Point at which recovery slope changes after border reopening/vaccination milestone reached
- 6 Accelerated monthly recovery rate (pp) = Observed initial rate X multiplier: Slope of the rebound phase after “inflection point”
- 7 New normal gap (pts): % of 2019 demand that doesn’t come back
- 8 Post-crisis CAGR (%): Growth rate once new normal demand reached

Domestic market demand expected to recover earlier, with selected markets forecasted to potentially reach 2019 levels in mid-late 2022

Demand Recovery Assumptions: Domestic Markets

- The recovery in domestic markets (measured in RPKs) will be driven by Brazil and Chile, followed by Peru, Colombia and Ecuador
- In the long-term (2026), domestic markets are expected to recover similar RPK levels compared to 2019 including Brazil (113%) and Chile (136%)

Regional market demand expected to recover slower than domestic largely due to the impact of travel restrictions and route profitability

Demand Recovery Assumptions: Regional Markets

- The recovery in regional RPKs takes longer due to travel restrictions and expected state of the economy in Argentina
- Due to the timing of the travel restrictions being lifted, the recovery curve is much steeper and 2019 RPKs are achieved by 4Q'23

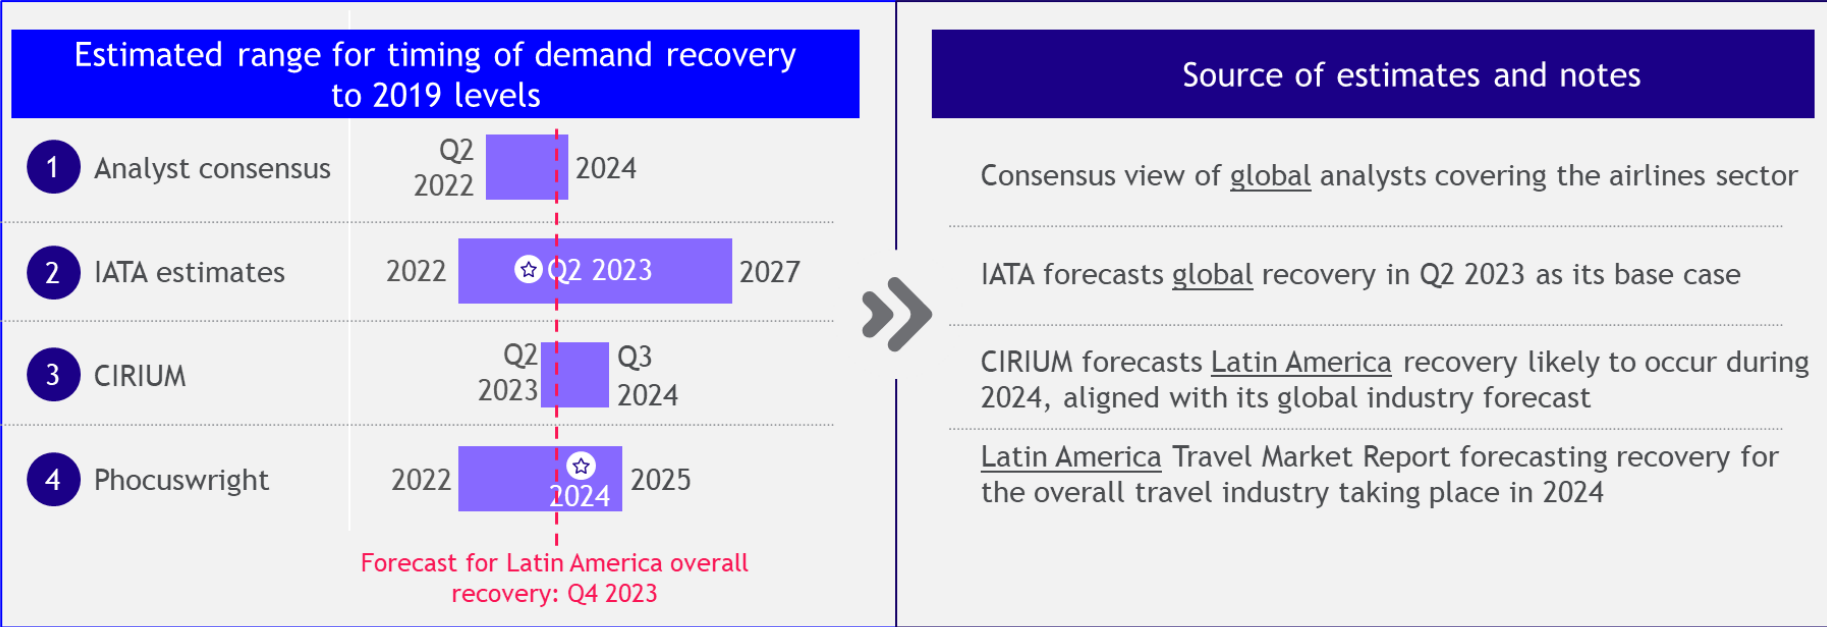

Long-haul travel expected to be the slowest to recover with demand recovery to 2019 levels in ~Q3 2024

Demand Recovery Assumptions: Long-Haul Markets

- Long haul travel does not reach 2019 RPKs until Q3-2024 due to travel restrictions and the change in business travel habits
- It is expected that business travel will have a permanent structural gap of approximately 15%, however, this is expected to be offset by an approximately 12% improvement in U.S. Long-Haul routes driven by the joint venture agreement with Delta Airlines
- By 2026, the long-haul market (including demand associated with the Delta Airlines joint venture) is forecast to recover 105% of 2019 RPK levels

Estimated demand forecast consistent with external estimates

The red line reflects the scenario considered in this Business Plan, based on Global Strategic Consulting Firm Report
Source: Global Strategic Consulting Firm Report (April 2021); Analyst consensus (Bloomberg), IATA, CIRIUM, and Phocuswright

- The consensus view is that Latin America recovery will lag behind the global recovery projections
- The expected delay in the recovery compared to the global recovery is due primarily to what is expected to be a 6 to 12-month lag in getting vaccines rolled out to a sufficient number of the population to achieve herd immunity

Business Plan Output

Total Revenues potentially increase by 13% when compared to pre-COVID levels, reaching US$ 11.8 billion in 2026

- LATAM expected to return to 2019 capacity levels by 2024 when ASKs reach almost 148 billion, driven primarily by a recovery in domestic demand
- LATAM forecasts that it will potentially fly 161 billion ASKs in 2026, an assumption based on the continuing recovery in demand in the later years, primarily in the international segment

Note: 2019 and 2020 are actuals. 2021 – 2026 are forecast figures.

Cargo expected to use freighter capacity growth to compensate for the impact in belly capacity during the recovery period

- LATAM cargo business strategy reflected in the plan continues being “Belly-Supporting Freightier”

LATAM's planned capacity expected to reach 2019 levels in 2024

Capacity Planning

- Pre-COVID-19, LATAM group flew 150 billion ASKs in 2019. In 2020, following the sharp decrease in air travel brought on by the pandemic, ASKs fell to just under 56 billion, a decrease of almost 63%
- In light of the second/third wave of COVID-19, ASKs are forecasted to remain low in 2021 at 71 billion
- The Business Plan assumes that LATAM group will potentially return to 2019 capacity levels by 2024 when ASKs reach almost 148 billion (-1% vs.'19)
- With the continuing recovery in demand in the later years, primarily in the International segment, LATAM group forecasts that it will potentially fly 161 billion ASKs in 2026

Note: Domestic Argentina only for 2019 and 2020

LATAM forecasts a potential EBIT Margin in 2024 in line with 2019, continuing to grow thereafter to 11.2% in 2026

Forecast Income Statement

- In 2019, LATAM flew 150 billion ASKs and reported revenue of US$ 10.4 billion and EBITDA of US$ 2.2 billion
- The COVID-19 pandemic had an immediate and dramatic impact on air travel across the globe and on demand in the markets served by LATAM
- LATAM's capacity, measured in ASKs, fell to 56 billion in 2020, a 63% decrease compared to 2019
- Subsequent waves of COVID-19, and the associated restrictions on travel, continue to impact demand in 2021
- The Business Plan Projections assumes that a recovery to pre-COVID demand (and revenue) will potentially occur by 2024, led by LATAM's domestic markets, followed by international travel (both regional and long-haul)
- Jet fuel cost per barrel in the Business Plan is assumed to remain flat at US$ 73 per bbl over the projection period

- Ending Cash: positive throughout the period, before exit financing
- Adjustments: this line reverses the outflows included in capex relating to operating leases under IFRS16 (i.e. the present value of the right to use aircraft under operating leases) as they are non-cash items

Note: 2019 and 2020 are actuals. 2021 – 2026 are forecast figures.

Ongoing CASK reduction, implementing a cost savings plan in 2021

- LATAM has executed on several key initiatives to reduce its CASK ex Fuel, including:
 - Reducing headcount by 34% from 42,000 FTEs in 2019 to 28,000 in 2021, combined with reductions in salary and early retirements from Q2 to Q4 2020
 - Immediately negotiating usage based/interest only terms across the majority of LATAM's fleet, which in certain cases extend out into 2023, and securing reductions in fixed rates (operating leases) thereafter
 - Outsourcing various functions, including airport support staff, effectively converting a fixed cost structure to a variable, more efficient one, thereby reducing costs during periods of low demand
 - Renegotiating over 600 contracts with vendors and suppliers resulting in lower or more variable rate structures
 - Reducing other discretionary expenses, including marketing, professional services, travel and expenses, among others

LATAM has increased the variable proportion of its costs to better cope with demand uncertainty – cost variabilization

- In response to the pandemic, uncertainty in demand recovery and a return to pre-COVID operating levels, LATAM has aggressively sought to further shift its cost structure to be more variable. As part of this variabilization initiative, LATAM has:
 - Obtained labor concessions resulting in an increase in variable based (per hour) compensation arrangements
 - Negotiated amendments in fleet operating leases resulting in extended usage-based, power-by-the-hour (“PBH”) and interest only terms which in certain cases will be extended out to 2023
 - Negotiated terms with vendors and suppliers to secure more variable contract terms based on the achievement of specific drivers versus fixed payment arrangements
- As a result of these, and other initiatives, LATAM expects to increase its variable costs as a percentage of total costs from 65% in 2019 to ~80% in 2022
- After 2023, and with the expiration of negotiated usage-based fleet costs, variable costs are expected to account for approximately 72% of total costs

Operating Costs: Fixed vs. Variable %

Note: 2019 and 2020 are actuals. 2021 – 2026 are forecast figures.

Cash Flow 2021, by Semester

- The Business Plan is based on certain key assumptions
- LATAM is always working to contain and improve its liquidity position
- These efforts shall be stressed in the case of an extension of the Chapter 11 process or if any other of these key assumptions were to change in an adverse manner, as would be a new COVID-19 wave affecting the recovery of air traffic demand in the region
- Selected key assumptions
 - Emergence of Chapter 11 in December 2021
 - Delivery of certain aircraft in 2021
 - Forecast of deferred revenue behavior, including refunds and flight of outstanding open tickets with a past flight date
 - Payment of certain restructuring fees in line with exit timing
 - Payment of up to ~$212mm of payments made to prepetition vendors in 2021, of which up to ~$160mm may be paid from June to December 2021 - the Company continues to work to reduce these payments

Notes for Claims Estimates

Overview

- The analysis herein has been prepared by the Debtors and their Advisors on a draft basis to provide initial estimates of claims pool ranges across claims classes. The claims reconciliation process is still ongoing and these figures are subject to change. The Debtors and their Advisors reserve their rights with respect to the claims, including the asserted priority of claims (e.g. reclassification from admin to unsecured)
- The claim amounts by class are generally based on the claimants' asserted class, and inclusion of claims within that class for the analysis is not an acknowledgement by the Debtors or their Advisors that they agree with the asserted class
- This analysis does not include any provisions for damage claims that could be filed following potential future contract or lease rejections or claims for contract or lease rejections that have been filed but for which timely claims may still be asserted. This analysis also does not account for potential amendments to claims that could be filed in increased amounts and which would properly relate back to timely filed claims
- All claims are subject to further and ongoing review and potential objection
- The claims pool estimates include approximately $400mm of scheduled liabilities that have not been matched to filed claims, have been satisfied, or are estimated at $0 because they have been asserted as contingent and/or unliquidated amounts. These remaining scheduled claims are all included within General Unsecured Trade & Other within the analysis. The remaining scheduled liabilities remain subject to ongoing review for matches to filed claims and claims satisfied in the ordinary course of business pursuant to First Day Orders. Note that this amount may increase or decrease as matched filed claims are withdrawn by claimants or un-matched upon further review
- The High estimate consists of the claims received to date, excluding claims that have been withdrawn, filed for objection or expunged from the claims register. The High estimate uses the filed amount of each claim and does not include any in-process reconciliations
- The Low estimate consists of the claims filed to date, excluding claims that have been withdrawn, filed for objection, expunged from the claims register, and preliminary drafted for objection on an internal basis (subject to ongoing review). Furthermore, the Low estimate reflects claims that have been preliminary reconciled (subject to ongoing review)
- For the High and Low estimate for litigation claims, the estimates are unadjusted (with the exception of DB Barnsdale and Dash 224) and we have, for purposes of the analysis of the claims pool, included the claims as asserted in amount, Debtor obligor and priority as asserted by the claimant
- This analysis also does not take account of potential objections that could reduce the claims pool based on offsets or disallowance of claims for claimants against whom the Debtors may have or assert avoidance actions

Notes for Claims Estimates

Administrative Claims

- Fleet administrative claims are estimated as claims filed that would be paid as post-petition administrative expense claims
- Litigation administrative claims are currently asserted as administrative and under review with the Debtors and their Advisors to determine validity of the asserted claim and the potential treatment of the claim
- Trade and Other administrative claims primarily consist of asserted 503(b)(9) claims and post-petition expense claims that are both currently under review

Secured Claims

- The analysis herein does not reflect any position by the Debtors and their Advisors on the validity of secured claims, nor the type and/or value of the collateral asserted as security. Claims remain subject to ongoing assessment by the Debtors and their Advisors
- Litigation secured claims are currently asserted as secured and under review by the Debtors and their Advisors to determine validity of the asserted class and the potential treatment of the claim
- Local Short Term Debt and SBLC secured claims are currently asserted as secured and under review by the Debtors and their Advisors to determine validity of the asserted class and the potential treatment of the claim
- The RCF secured claims are currently asserted as secured against the issuer and guarantors
- The SEF secured claim is currently asserted as secured against the issuer
- Trade and Other secured claims are solely based on assertion by claimants as secured

Priority Claims

- The analysis herein does not reflect any assessment by the Debtors and their Advisors on the validity of priority claims per the various reasons asserted
- Priority litigation claims are related to Employee Union litigations and are under review by the Debtors and their Advisors

Notes for Claims Estimates

General Unsecured Claims (“GUC”)

- 2024/2026 Notes claims are reflected as asserted
- Chilean Local Bond claims are reflected as asserted
- FFP Advance Debts (e.g. FFP co-branding obligations) are all filed on a contingent basis. The Low estimate assumes that these programs will not be rejected, and therefore the contingent claims will not materialize. The High estimate reflects the potential impact on the claims pool should the contract not be assumed
- Fleet claims estimates are built up at the MSN level based on condition of aircraft at filing
- Fleet claims estimates reflect the impact of stip 1, stip 2, current status of long term agreements and reflect latest fleet strategy
- The Debtor entity that was the contracted party to the lease agreement at the time of filing for Ch.11 is where the MSN level claim is included
- Sublease claims for fleet are only based on rejected aircraft that had sublease agreements in place at the time of filing for Ch.11, and remain subject to further review
- Estimates include latest information regarding ECA aircraft assumption motion
- Any shortfall in finance lease rejection claims (i.e. asset value does not cover debt of the aircraft) is included in general unsecured claim estimates
- Estimates include some actual stipulated amounts agreed with lessor counterparties, as well as estimates for other claims

Intercompany Claims

- The intercompany GUC amount reflects the prepetition payables balance by Debtor (as filed in the SOAL) adjusted for payments made in the postpetition period as allowed by the First Day Orders. This amount will continue to fluctuate each month as payments are made that affect the prepetition balance during the course of the Chapter 11 case
- The intercompany administrative amount reflects the net postpetition payables between Debtors (and, to a lesser extent, non-Debtors). Similar to the intercompany GUC, the amount will continue to vary as transactions between Debtors occur during the pendency of the Chapter 11 case
- The intercompany administrative memo line provides the postpetition receivable between Debtors as a reference. Taken together (i.e., receivable and payable), the amount reflects the net transfer of value between Debtors due to postpetition transactions (with positive numbers representing a payable and negative numbers representing a net receivable to the Debtor). The amounts do not net-out to zero, as there are some payables that the Debtors owe non-Debtors, which are administrative claims, while any amounts owed by non-Debtors to Debtors are not administrative claims
